

MAN YOU NEED

Honey I won't waste your precious time, or keep you hanging on
 To a dream you've had and held so dear and wanted for so long

But I had to tell you in the end and sing it in a song
 It doesn't make it right I know, but it doesn't make it wrong

Some things happen for a reason
 Some things aren't meant to be
 I might be the man you wanted
 But I'm not the man you need

How I wished to make you happy, put a smile upon your face
 And I was glad to be beside you, to start and share my days
 But in the long run it was for the best, that I let you slip away
 I'm not the believing kind, but I'm learning how to pray

Some things happen for a reason
 Some things aren't meant to be
 I might be the man you wanted
 But I'm not the man you need

Time is all we have
 So make sure you live a life well lived

Some things happen for a reason
 Some things aren't meant to be
 I might be the man you wanted
 But I'm not the man you need
 No I'm not the one you're looking for Hope that one day you can see
 That I might be the man you wanted
 But I'm not the man you need
 Yeah I might be the man you wanted
 But I'm not the man you need