

BACKSEAT DRIVER

Spent Kodak camera roll
 Eighty miles worth of telephone poles
 Dirt track don't know where it goes
 But we're going to find out
 Faded map up on the dash
 Making memories made to last
 If I had me one last wish, it would be this

Would you be my backseat driver baby
 Tell me which way to go
 You could gaze all night through the sun roof
 Counting the stars as they glow
 Well I've climbed the highs, I've seen the skies
 Nearly every shade of blue
 But my best adventures
 They all start with you

The valleys brought us close together
 Love in our hearts running like a river
 The mountain air went to our heads
 And we got married in the spring
 That desert sunset I'll never forget
 The way you looked in that light
 And when the night time comes and we're all alone
 Is when you show me that your mine

Could you be my backseat driver baby
 Tell me which way to go
 We could gaze all night through the sun roof
 Counting the stars as they glow
 I've been to the end of continents
 Lived in cities old and new
 But my best adventures
 They all start with you

Will you be my backseat driver baby
 Tell me which way to go
 We could gaze all night through the sun roof
 Counting the stars as they glow
 I've been some crazy places
 Seen a million faces
 Lived a lifetime enough for two
 But my best adventures
 They all start with you
 They all start with you
