

BROWN PAPER BAG

Whisky in my water, bottle's always dry
Seems every time that you're 'round, I'm coming down off a high
You told me to chose between the drinking and you
They say misery loves company, ain't that the truth

I threw our life away into a brown paper bag
Went took for granted everything I ever had
"I promise I'll give up", the only words I never said
Traded your love for liquor and a brown paper bag

I look in the mirror and the man that I see
He ain't the man that you fell for, or a man you believe
Someone to count on, someone you could love
I just hope that someday, you'll find the right one

'Cause I threw our life away into a brown paper bag
Went took for granted everything I ever had
Oh "I promise I'll give up", the only words I never said
Traded your love for liquor and a brown paper bag

One hand on the bible, one foot in the grave
Eyes to the skies, hoping I can be saved
This life that I've lived, it can't be undone
So I pray for forgiveness, from the father and the son

'Cause I threw my life away into a brown paper bag
Went took for granted everything I ever had
Oh "I promise I'll give up", the only words I never said
Traded your love for liquor and a brown paper bag
Traded your love for liquor and a brown paper bag
